

CITY WELFARE FUNDS SPENT; CRISIS NEARS

Care Of 350 Families In Future Depends On Community

The affairs of the Dixon Welfare Association have reached a serious crisis, as the funds are practically exhausted and, even anticipating the unfulfilled pledges that are to come in this month and next, the Welfare Association will be unable to function for more than another week unless substantial and immediate financial help is forthcoming.

The seriousness of the situation was explained last night to a group of representative Dixonites at a meeting called by the Welfare Committee and the consensus was that Dixon must and will carry on with this work.

S. C. Stanfield, who so successfully led the drive for funds last December, was again pressed into service as chairman of the drive committee, with authority to select the members of the committee who are to work with him. The drive will start within a very few days, for unless funds are forthcoming immediately the welfare headquarters will close and upwards of seventeen hundred persons in Dixon will be without food.

In the winter of 1930-31 the records of the welfare show that the peak load was 150 families applying for aid at any one time. When the drive was inaugurated for this winter's funds, it was estimated that there would be some increase in demand, but it was believed that the generous donations of the people of Dixon would carry through the winter and well into the summer.

But the demands this winter have been so unexpectedly large that the fund has been inadequate to meet the pressure. There are now more than 350 families on the welfare list who are being supplied with their food. Up to this time the Association has also been supplying fuel and the coal bill for the winter is in excess of $3,000. Every means to keep down the expense of the welfare administration has been used.

The money that was donated to the welfare has gone entirely for actual food, fuel and clothing. There are no salaries, no rent, no heat bills, water or telephone bills or bills for labor or for overhead of any kind. Only plain, wholesome food is given. It consists of potatoes, flour, beans, rice, eggs, oil, lard, milk, bread, flour, cocoa, salt, macaroni, tomatoes, etc. Kerosene, soap and matches are also necessities.

Support Is Pledged.

At the meeting last night the local businessmen, churchmen and city officials who attended stated that they felt that the welfare work in Dixon had been carried on economically and well and urged the committee in charge to carry on and pledge their full support to a drive for a fund of $10,000 in cash and pledges so that the welfare headquarters may be kept open. It was the unanimous opinion of the meeting that those Dixonites who can afford it owe a duty to their less fortunate fellow citizens and to the reputation of the city to keep food in the homes of the families who are suffering from unemployment.

Treasurer's Report.

John L. Davies, treasurer of the welfare committee, was called upon for a report on the expenditure of the funds received from the December drive, and his report is as follows:

Receipts.
Bank balance, 12-11-31...	$ 872.18
Donations.....	9975.09
	$10847.27
Expenditures
Groceries.....	$3237.31
Bread.....	896.88
Potatoes.....	383.79
Meat.....	616.47
Sugar.....	631.98
Milk.....	898.78
Flour.....	118.59
Matches.....	32.99
Soap.....	125.64
Kerosene.....	180.97
Shoes & Rubbers.....	613.59
Clothing.....	38.36
Coal.....	3,016.68
Salvation Army.....	54.87
Miscellaneous.....	165.50
TOTAL.....	$10,718.60
Cash balance, Apr. 20.....	128.67
The miscellaneous items include $81.25 for shoe repairs, $30.24 for medicines, etc.

There are still unfulfilled pledges of over $2,000 to be paid in between now and the last of May, but there are outstanding bills against the welfare that total within a few hundred dollars of the amount anticipated from the pledges and therefore the welfare headquarters could not remain in a solvent condition for many more days and would have to be closed unless funds are forthcoming immediately.

Woman Meets Death Rescuing Stepson

Kewanee, Ill., April 21.—(AP)—Mrs. E. J. Hamm, 42, was gored to death while rescuing her stepson, Russell Hamm, 13, another stepson, Ray, beat the bull off with one hand and dragged Mrs. Hamm away but not until she had been trampled her clothing and shoes torn from her body.

Terse Items Of News Gathered In Dixon During Day

DIVORCE GRANTED

Mrs. Queta Waincoat of this city was granted a decree for divorce by Judge Harry Edwards in the circuit court yesterday afternoon from Ellis B. Waincoat, cruelty being charged. Attorney H. A. Brooks appeared for the plaintiff.

BUILDS IN GRANDY

Jesse Weyant of Dixon is building a house on the site of the famous old Sheffield Hotel in Grand Detour. This is an ideal location with beautiful old trees and graceful shrubbery enhancing the yard.

FIRST DIVIDEND

J. U. Weyant of this city, named receiver for the Citizens State Bank of Franklin Grove, which closed last winter, this morning sent out the first checks to depositors of the institution. In today's mail the depositors received checks representing 25 per cent of their deposits.

INSURANCE MEN MEET

About fifty district and local agents of the State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Company of Bloomington, were gathered in Dixon today from the northwest district of Illinois, at a meeting which was being held in the city hall. At noon the delegates attended a dinner at the Nachusa Tavern. Business sessions were held this morning and afternoon. W. J. Hardy of Steward and S. L. Shaw of Lee Center are the Lee county representatives of the company.

PLANE IN CAMPAIGN

An airplane circled low over the high school at noon today dropping campaign literature of one of the candidates who is seeking the nomination for the office of mayor. Much of the literature missed the students as they left the school building and floated down Rock river. The plane was reported to have been chartered for the trip by Jack Habacker aspirant to the mayoralty nomination.

There were further rumors of a parade through the business section this evening led by a band to further the nomination of one of the candidates, this completing the primary campaign.

TO STATE WORK FARM

Harry Wright of Amboy, former proprietor of a restaurant on Depot avenue this city, was sentenced to serve one year at the state work farm at Vandalia and pay a fine of $400 and the costs, when he pleaded guilty to an information charging possession and sale of intoxicating liquor before Judge Leech in the County Court this morning. The court ordered that Wright serve six months and pay a fine of $250 and the costs on each of the two counts contained in the information.

Wright and his wife were arrested at the Amboy home, which had been the scene of previous liquor raids, by Deputy Sheriff Ward Miller Saturday evening, April 2. Mrs. Wright, who has been in custody in the county jail unable to furnish bond, was admitted to probation for a period of one year. Judge Leech ordered that Wright stand committed at the state farm until the fine and costs are fully paid.

Mellon Ignores Women's Protest

London, April 21.—(AP)—Ambassador Mellon's answer today to the protest of American women dry leaders against serving liquor in the American embassy here was that he had no statement to make.

At the embassy it was said there was nothing to add to the statement Mr. Mellon made when he arrived in England that he would probably follow the custom of the country.

London newspapers, devoted prominent space to the dry protest on their first pages.

TRAIL OF ROAD KILLERS IN OGLE COUNTY IS COLD

Sheriff Murray Finds Windshield Taken From Death Car

The trail of the killer of Angelo Torrallo of Kenschu, Wis. victim of Tuesday night's shooting five miles north of Oregon on the Black Hawk Trail, remained cold today, although many reports had been received at the office of Sheriff Frank Murray of Ogle county at his office in Oregon. Locally the investigation was halted late yesterday with the tracing of a telephone call from the Prairieville garage at 5:30 Monday morning when Torrallo called a number in Davenport, Iowa, and reported that his car had broken down between Dixon and Sterling.

Dr. J. C. Aiken of Forreston, Ogle county coroner, conducted an inquest at the Earl's mortuary in Oregon yesterday, which was attended by relatives of the slain man. The jury returned a verdict finding that death was due to gun shot wounds inflicted by some person or persons unknown to the jury.

Joe Torrallo, a brother of the victim, testified before the jury stating that he last saw Angelo alive Sunday night, and in response to questions from Coroner Aiken is said to have stated that the victim of the killing made a living by bootlegging.

Find Windshield

Sheriff Murray this morning recovered the shattered windshield from the killer's automobile and a soiled handkerchief which had been used in removing the broken glass, it was learned at noon today. A farm hand residing near Byron saw the dark sedan turn west on a side road at Shepp's lunch stand on the Black Hawk Trail, it was reported to Sheriff Murray. After driving at high speed for a distance of about two miles, the big car stopped in a cut, where the occupants removed the windshield, which had been shattered by slugs from their own sawed-off shot gun. The farm hand witnessed the operation and reported the incident to Sheriff Murray.

The Ogle county Sheriff went to the scene at once and gathered up the broken pieces of glass and the wind shield frame, together with the handkerchief which had evidently been used by one of the occupants of the car to prevent being cut by the shattered glass. These were taken to the county jail at Oregon for investigation, which revealed finger prints, which are being carefully guarded in the hope that the slayers may be apprehended.

Torrallo's body was taken to his former home in Chicago yesterday afternoon for burial.

Suspect Held

An Associated Press dispatch from Peoria this morning stated that Sheriff Sherwood was arrested last night on an anonymous telephone tip as a suspect in the slaying of Torrallo.

A woman's voice told police they would find Sherwood with another woman. Police found Sherwood alone. He was held all night pending questioning later today. Peoria police said they had received no requests from Oregon or Kenschu to hold him.

Sherwood refused to give them his business connections. A later dispatch said he was released at noon, suspicion against him having been removed. Police ascribed his arrest to a woman's jealousy.

Sheriff Frank Murray of Oregon arrived in Dixon this afternoon for a short conference with Deputy Sheriff Ward Miller and State Highway Officer Frank Tyne, en route to Peoria to continue his investigation in Tuesday evening's slaying on the Black Hawk Trail in Ogle county. The local officers have been aiding in the investigation, checking the presence of the killer's car in the vicinity of the Prairieville garage Tuesday afternoon.

Postal Department May Cut Holidays

First intimation of what the postal department has in mind to reduce expenses if government action compels such reductions was received by the postoffice employees from one of the journals of the organization among employees. The article indicates that the department has in mind cutting off the 10 per cent differential in wages paid to night workers, also the Saturday half holiday, all overtime work and the allowing of a cumulative sick leave. Employees are allowed sick leave and are permitted to let this leave accumulate over a period of years up to a certain maximum number of days.

The paying of 10 per cent differential to night workers and the Saturday afternoon half holiday have not been in effect a great length of time.

Parcel Post Rate Boost Announced

Postmaster John E. Meyer has been notified that an increase in parcel post rates will go in effect Oct. 1. The boost will be mostly one cent per pound on the present rates for each zone, the complete schedule of increase to be announced later.

The Dixon postoffice has also been notified that a special cachet or distinctive cancellation mark of mail will be applied May 12 at Alexandria, Va., in observance of the dedication of a Washington memorial.

AVIATRIX AND COMPANION TO BE QUESTIONED

Held In Connection With Fatal Shooting In Miami

BULLETIN

Miami, Fla., April 21.—(AP)—Haden Clarke, 31, aviation pilot and free lance writer, died today from a bullet wound he received shortly before dawn at the house where he was living with Captain W. N. Lancaster, former British flier, and Mrs. Jessie M. Keith-Miller, Australian aviatrix.

Police imprisoned Lancaster and Mrs. Keith-Miller for questioning and searched the house in which they and Clarke lived.

Two notes were found apparently written by Clarke. One was addressed to "Chubbie," (Mrs. Keith-Miller's nickname) and said in effect he could not continue in his present economic situation.

The other read:

"Bill, I can't make the grade. Tell Chubbie of our talk. My advice is never leave again." It was signed "H."

J. B. Rowland, investigator for the State Attorney's office, said he also found in the house letters from Clarke and Mrs. Keith-Miller to Lancaster in St. Louis, stating Clarke and she wished to be married. A telegram signed by Lancaster and sent from St. Louis, Rowland continued, urged Clarke and the aviatrix to delay their wedding until he arrived, and added that his only desire was for their happiness.

Lancaster arrived here by airplane last night, from St. Louis.

Miami, Fla., April 21.—(AP)—Mrs. J. Keith-Miller, Australian aviatrix and Captain W. N. Lancaster, an associate in several flights here and abroad, were held in county jail today for investigation of the shooting early today of Haden Clarke, airplane pilot, at their home here early this morning.

Statement given police by the two ascribed a wound in Clarke's head to a suicide attempt.

In a statement to police, Mrs. Keith-Miller said she was awakened shortly before daylight by Lancaster, who told her Clarke had shot himself.

She said she went with Lancaster to the place where Clarke's body lay and saw a pistol under the body.

"I pulled it out about an inch by the barrel," she said.

Lancaster, formerly an English flier, said he and Clarke retired on the porch where they slept, about about 12:45 A. M.

"We talked for about an hour of home troubles and several other things," he said. "We were in a cheerful mood and laughing."

He said he was awakened by a report sometime later, and heard Clarke "making a funny noise."

Clarke, whose mother lives here, was taken to a hospital. Attendants said he could not live.

Mrs. Keith-Miller gained public notice a year and a half ago when she started a flight from Havana to Miami, but made a forced landing on Andros Islands in the Bahamas. She was located after several days by the U. S. Navy.

B. Roland, investigator for the State Attorney's office, said he had sent the pistol to the Bureau of Identification for finger print examination.

Roland said he found a mass of correspondence in the house from points in Mexico, Canada and England and that the few letters he had had opportunity to examine apparently referred to a plan to smuggle gasoline from the United States into Mexico.

Sen. Smoot Drops Sales Taxes Idea

Washington, April 21.—(AP)—A fresh attempt to revive the controversial sales tax was waved aside in the interest of speed today by Chairman Smoot of the Senate Finance committee as hearings on the revenue bill drew to a close and revision was studied.

Smoot summoned the committee to meet on Monday for actual work on the multitude of rates necessary to bring about a billion dollars in new revenue for the nation's shrinking Treasury. He and Senator Harrison of Mississippi, ranking Democrat on the committee, predicted the bill will be ready for the Senate by May 1.

Two weeks of hearings have brought severe protests from the industries selected by the house for taxation and counter proposals for a general sales tax. Encouraged by this, Senator J. Reed (R. Pa.) announced today he would press it for favorable action by the committee and that he believed he would win.

But Smoot, though long a proponent of the sales tax, decided it would be "a waste of time."

Wall St. Is "Peanut Stand" Dawes Says

Washington, April 21.—(AP)—In characteristically forceful language, Charles G. Dawes condemned demagoguery today before the operations of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation which he heads.

He called Wall Street a "peanut stand" and said too much stress was laid upon its activities while the mass of the people were becoming more optimistic.

Withdrawals from banks have ceased, Dawes said, in outlining the operations of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation which he heads. He warned that inflation of the currency would have a disastrous effect upon the nation's monetary and credit system. The two billion dollar bonus would be paid in new currency under the Patman bill, which he opposed.

Garden Plots, Seeds Sought For Needy Ones

Do you have any garden seeds you can donate to an unemployed man who wants to plant a garden. We mean vegetables, not pansies.

Do you have a vacant lot or a dozen lots or an acre or more that you would be willing to donate to an unemployed family or a group of unemployed families?

If so take your seeds to the office of the Dixon Chamber of Commerce or go there or phone them (26 is the number) giving the exact location of your lot or land.

At last evening's meeting to consider the problem of maintaining the welfare work in Dixon it was decided that the wholesale planting of gardens this spring would be a great help to unemployed families during the summer and give them a chance to store up food for the winter. Most of them are unable to supply their own seeds and many lack sufficient garden space.

President Frank Stephen of the Dixon Chamber of Commerce agreed to sponsor the undertaking and he had appointed a committee consisting of George Prescott, C. Frank Bennett and Richard C. Boyce, who will meet this afternoon and outline plans.

Time is short, for gardens are being planted now. Seed of every kind of vegetable will be acceptable. Vacant lots and acreage are needed. If you can supply either please get in touch with the members of the committee or with the committee headquarters at the Chamber of Commerce immediately.

DETECTIVES ON LIQUOR CASES ASK BIG AMOUNT

Whiteside Supervisors Astounded As Bills Are Presented

Members of the Whiteside county Board of Supervisors in session at Morrison yesterday afternoon, were astounded when bills totalling $10,839.25 for services of detectives and investigators in liquor cases were presented. What to do with them was a problem, as the chairman of the finance committee informed the board the county had no money with which to pay, and stated that no further anticipatory warrants could be issued; likewise the supervisors could not ascertain on whose authority the bills were incurred. It was expected they would be the theme of a lively debate when the board met again this afternoon.

From Detective Agency

The largest bill for investigation work was filed by the McQueney Detective Agency, Chicago, who have been in the limelight since the charges preferred against State Attorney Vincent A. Bell. This agency's bill is $10,347. One of the items is $6,082.20 for services from Nov. 10, 1931, to Feb. 29, 1932.

The bill of another investigator, C. H. Myers of Oregon, was for $492.25, some of the items of which were $88.50 for liquor purchased and miscellaneous expenses, Feb. 5; services at $5 a day from Feb. 5 to 28, $125; room and board at $2.25 a day for 49 days, $119.25. Notation on the bill of payment of $112 in cash was the subject of speculation as to who had made a partial payment of the account.

Another bill came in from a Morrison photographer in the amount of $20 for services in taking pictures of the wire tapping equipment which State Attorney Bell claimed had been installed for use in listening-in on conversations from his office.

No Developments In Lindbergh Case

Hopewell, N. J., April 21.—(AP)—The first day of the Lindbergh kidnapping mystery today saw Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, his emissaries and the police still working behind a screen of secrecy from which there came no indication that the return of Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., is any nearer.

Developments were scanty. Dr. John P. Condon, the "Jafie" who made the futile $50,000 ransom payment, went for an automobile ride in the vicinity of Spuyten Duyvil, New York, yesterday. He was driven by Al Reich, former prize-fighter who is acting as his guard, but the purpose of the drive was not disclosed.

Optimism still was felt at Norfolk where Dean B. Dobson-Peacock and two other intermediaries are still hoping to get the baby back. John H. Curtis, one of the Dean's colleagues, departed Monday from his home, perhaps to visit Colonel Lindbergh and try to make contact with the kidnapers. He has not returned.

SYCAMORE HOTEL CO

Springfield, Ill., Apr. 21.—(AP)—Sycamore Hotel Company, DeKalb county, was incorporated here today at a capitalization of $30,000. Incorporators were Carl A. Meyer, Sycamore, J. Kontos, and Earl A. Lerner, Chicago Heights.

HOLD DISNEY ELECTED

Washington, Apr. 21.—(AP)—A report holding that Representative Disney (D. Okla.) is entitled to retain his seat in Congress was completed today by a House Elections committee.

DEFENSE RESTS MASSIE'S TRIAL; HIS WIFE ANGRY

Tears Up Confidential Paper Prosecutor Would Introduce

BULLETIN

Honolulu, April 21.—(AP)—A delay until Saturday of the trial of four persons accused of lynching Joseph Kahahawai was ordered by Judge Charles S. Davis today in order to give a prosecution alienationist to examine Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, who admitted responsibility for the killing.

Honolulu, Apr. 21.—(AP)—Having been turned momentarily into a spectacle of wrath by the witness stand outburst of Mrs. Thalia Massie, the trial of four persons accused of lynching Joseph Kahahawai reached the beginning of its epilogue today.

The white spark of fury which flashed first from the witness and then in turn from Judge and Prosecutor yesterday not only signalled the end of Mrs. Massie's tear-drenched story but also marked the finish of defense testimony designed to clear her husband and three other persons of a second degree murder charge.

A paper, supposedly containing an admission by Mrs. Massie of a rift between herself and her husband provided the fuel for the mental conflagration.

Under cross examination Mrs. Massie had admitted having taken a psychopathic examination at the University of Hawaii last summer, a few months before she was attacked by five men, whom Kahahawai allegedly was one.

Public Prosecutor John C. Kelley handed Mrs. Massie a paper, presumably containing her answer in the examination. The Prosecutor asked if it was in her handwriting.

Paper "Confidential"

"This is a confidential paper between a physician and his patient. Where did you get it?" Mrs. Massie demanded, stiffening in her seat and turning her blazing eyes on Kelley.

"I am asking questions, not answering them," said Kelley. "I refuse to say whether I wrote it," Mrs. Massie stormed and tore the paper to bits. A wave of applause came from the audience.

His voice shaking with anger, Judge Charles S. Davis lectured the spectators for the demonstration. As Mrs. Massie left the stand the prosecutor arose and said:

"Thank you, Mrs. Massie. At last you've shown yourself in your true colors."

Kelley's demeanor reflected his wrath. Before Mrs. Massie left the chair he asked:

"Are you sure that man is a doctor?"

"Yes, Positive."

In Husband's Arms

The exasperated young woman left the stand and ran to her husband and her mother, Mrs. Granville Porteus, another of the accused. With Massie's arms around her she sobbed:

"They are trying to say I don't love you. Everybody knows I love you!"

Under the questioning of Clarence Darrow, chief of defense counsel, Mrs. Massie had testified to many details of the attack and subsequent events bearing on the asserted insanity of Massie at the time he faced Kahahawai with drawn pistol and supposedly heard the native admit taking part in the attack.

Mrs. Massie had acknowledged hearing rumors about herself and husband after a jury had disagreed as to the guilt of the five men she had accused. She said she had heard reports that a naval officer was her attacker; that Massie was getting a divorce, and that it was Massie instead of Kahahawai who had broken her jaw.

Many times she broke into tears, first at the mention of her husband's name. She told how he had come home to hear her story of the attack; how she had gone to the hospital, had an operation to prevent motherhood, and how she had identified four of the accused men.

Described Attack

Describing the seizure and attack she said:

"I was walking down the road that night when a car drove up and stopped beside me. It was an open touring car. Chang (one of the attack case defendants) and Kahahawai hit me on the jaw and Chang said 'come on, baby, you're going for a ride.'"

"I tried to get them to let me go and they dragged me into the car. Then they drove off up the road and dragged me into the bushes."

A spasm of tears drowned out the story there and Mrs. Porteus asked Darrow to stop the questioning for a moment. Tears glistened in the eyes of many women spectators and the racially mixed jury listened soberly. Albert O. Jones and E. J. Lord, the other defendants, sat quietly.

"They carried me into the bushes," Mrs. Massie finally went on, "and assaulted me. I offered them money and tried to pray, but they wouldn't even let me pray."

"What were the others doing while this was going on?" Darrow asked.

"They were standing around, talking and laughing."

Husband "Wonderful"

Mrs. Massie said her husband had been "just wonderful" during her subsequent ordeal but had been able to sleep little and ate only a few mouthfuls of food at a time.

Jones, Mrs. Massie said, came to her house the morning of the slaying and seemed excited. In reply to her query, she said Jones told her:

"What were the others doing while this was going on?" Darrow asked.

"They were standing around, talking and laughing."

Some Oddities In From Various Parts Wire News Today

HUEY BREAKS LOOSE

Washington, April 21.—(AP)—A resolution that the tax bill be so written that no person would be allowed to make more than a million dollars annually or receive gifts or inheritances of more than five million was introduced today by Senator Long (D. La.)

WOULD AID GOVT

Washington, April 21.—(AP)—An old man who lost his only son in the war and saved $2,000 from war risk insurance payments today offered to turn this and his $57.50 monthly check over to the government to help meet expenses.

In a letter to Secretary Mills of the man, Charles F. Thompson, of Philadelphia, said he would send the money at once if the government would accept it. He added he had given every "dollar I had" to aid the United States during the World War and wished to do his share to help his government now.

In reply, Mills expressed appreciation of the offer but told Mr. Thompson there was no need for it. The government could borrow the funds he offered.

GEORGE SAID "NO"

Chicago, Apr. 21.—(AP)—Young George Denby—there's a real man of determination for you.

Miss Elsie Anderson, 24 and attractive, took him for an 8-hour taxicab ride last night to get him alone and propose, as she later told the court.

Moonlight and all female wiles made for an ideal setting of a leap year romance.

But for eight hours George said "no."

Elsie's mother had to pay the taxicab bill and had the couple hauled before Judge Alpertetti.

"You call it love," the judge told Elsie, "but I call it madness. Go on over and have them take a look at your head at the psychopathic hospital."

PREMIERS MEET STIMSON TODAY BEFORE PLANS

Secretary, McDonald And Tardieu Talk At Arms Meet

Geneva, April 21.—(AP)—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain and Premier Andre Tardieu of France met with Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson today in a private conference at Secretary Stimson's villa shortly after the arrival of the two Premiers from Paris on a morning train.

Secretary Stimson called for Mr. MacDonald at the latter's hotel shortly after he and Premier Tardieu arrived on the train from Paris.

Immediately after the British and French Premiers arrived, a bustle of preparation began for the conferences of the officials of the three powers.

None of the first magnitude statesmen were present when the disarmament conference resumed its debate on the question of "equality of disarmament" presented yesterday by Sir John Simon, British Foreign Secretary.

After a brief conference with Secretary Stimson, Prime Minister MacDonald came to the arms conference session, arriving at the same time as Chancellor Heinrich Brüning of Germany. They conferred in just before Ambassador Hugh Gibson, chief of the American delegation, rose to speak.

Joseph Paul-Boncour, French delegate, had announced that France would be unable to accept Sir John Simon's proposal in its present form.

Ambassador Gibson supported Sir John Simon's resolution as in full harmony with the American proposal. He carefully explained no way intended to prejudice the French plan for security.

Four Rockford Men In Appeal
Chicago, April 21.—(AP)—Four Rockford men convicted as ringleaders in a huge northern Illinois liquor conspiracy presented their cases to the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals today asking reversals and new trials.
William D'Agostin, Sam Capriola, Louis Dodaro and John F. Walsh were among 36 convicted out of 59 arrested and 86 originally indicted. The case, tried at Freeport a year ago, was one of the largest prosecuted by the government.
The four appealing today had been sentenced to two years in prison and $10,000 fine each. Judges Evan A. Evans, James H. Wilkerson and Will Sparks heard the arguments by Harry B. North in behalf of Capriola and Dodaro, and by David D. Madden for Walsh and John E. Byrne for D'Agostin.
Madden charged the government had prosecuted the case by appeal to racial prejudice against the Italians who comprised most of the defendants. He cited frequent references to the Italian section of Rockford and asserted that many of the places raided were outside that area.
Madden contended that Walsh was "psychologically convicted" and Judge Sparks interrupted to inquire if the defendant was also "psychologically sentenced." Walsh operator of a small loan agency in Rockford, was labeled in the evidence as the "pay-off man" for the conspirators.

THANK YOU

In Switzerland one idle day.
As on the grass at noon we lay,
Came a grave peasant child,
And stood
Watching the strangers eat their food
And what we offered her she took
In silence, with her quiet look.
And when we rose to go content
Without a word of thanks she went.

Another day in sleet and rain.
I chose the meadow path again.
And partly turning, chanced to see
My little guest-friend watching me
With eyes half-hidden by her hair
Blowing me kisses unaware
That I had seen and still she wore
The same grave aspect as before.

And some recall for heart's delight
A sunrise, some a snowy height
And I a little child that stands
And gravely kisses both her hands.

Tasty Luncheon At O'Neil School For Examination

On Tuesday of this week, County
Superintendent of Schools L. W.
Miller conducted the annual Central Examination for the pupils of rural districts Nos. 46, 47, 48, 50 and 51. The examination was held at the O'Neil School, Dist. 50, with 8 pupils and 5 teachers present.
At noon, the following ladies of the district appeared, bringing a delicious hot lunch for the visitors:
Mesdames Seth Anderson, Ed
Larson, John McCoy, Vincent Gorman, William, Todd, Fred Fahs
Mrs. Tillie Kelley and Miss Katherine Oberschelp. The menu was as follows:
Escalloped chicken, mashed potatoes, cabbage salad, baked beans, pickles, coffee and pie.
It may be of interest to know that this school is heated and lighted with natural gas, the only school of the county so equipped.

Hostess To Tea Time Club Tuesday

The Tea Time Club met at the pleasant home of Mrs. Frank Cnare, Tuesday, April 19th.
The diversion for the afternoon was cards. Mrs. James Julian who made high score was awarded the first prize, and Mrs. Emil Neff received the consolation prize.
Mrs. Vere Irvin was an out-of-town guest, being an intimate friend of Mrs. Cnare and a former student at Dixon College. Mrs. Irvin also assisted the hostesses in serving a most tempting luncheon. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. John Thomas, Tuesday, May 3rd.

Mrs. Dorothy Kerr Heads Oak Park

Chicago, April 21 — (AP) — A woman, Mrs. Dorothy Kerr, is running suburban Oak Park, "the world's biggest village."
A village trustee, Mrs. Kerr was chosen by her colleagues last night to serve as its temporary head until President Willis McPeely recovers from an eye operation.
Oak Park's population is nearly 64,000 and on that basis, its residents claim they're living in the biggest village in the world.
Mrs. Kerr is the wife of a physician.

Apple and Celery Salad for 6
2 cups diced cooked apples
1 cup diced celery
1-2 cup diced marshmallows
1-4 teaspoon salt
2-3 cup salad dressing Chill ingredients. Combine and serve on crisp lettuce.

Pocono Coffee Bread
(For breakfast or luncheon)
2 cups flour
4 tablespoons baking powder
1-3 teaspoon salt
5 tablespoons sugar
4 tablespoons fat
1 egg
1 cup milk
Mix flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Cut in fat with knife.
Add egg and milk. Mix lightly.
Pour to thickness of 1 inch in shallow, greased baking pan. Cover with topping.

Topping
2-3 cup chopped pineapple
1-2 cup light brown sugar
1-3 cup shredded almonds
4 tablespoons soft butter
Mix ingredients and press into soft dough. Bake 20 minutes in moderate oven. Spread with frosting.

Heat fat in frying pan. Add rest of ingredients. Cook slowly and stir frequently until potatoes are brown.

Luke Warm Suds;
And Sunny Days
Good for Blankets

"Sunny, mildly breezy days are just the ones for those blankets, comforters or quilts demanding a tubbing. They dry fluffy and soft after the right kind of washing."
"There is no need for guesswork.
If the blankets are put into too hot water they will never be the same. Woolen fibers open and loosen soil when put into lukewarm suds made with soft water. Water even cool to the hand is better than having it a degree too hot.
Put the blanket in the washing machine in such suds. When the water shows considerable soil, remove the water from the blanket and put it through another such suds. Rinse it in water of the same temperature, also somewhat sudsy."

Hanging the blanket squarely on the line, so that color in parts of the pattern likely to run slightly will stay within that part of the design, is suggested in the blanket-washing bulletin of the American washing machine manufacturers' association of Chicago, containing other detailed directions for cleansing household effects.

ENJOY THE ROSES AND THEN THE SOUP

Elbert Hubbard was willing to exchange his last loaf of bread for a hyacinth, but the Swedish people would prefer roses, because they can enjoy the liveliness of the flower and then make delicious soup from the little reddish-orange berries that form after the roses have shattered.

Friend Tuxedo In New Guise

Paris, April 21 — (Special)—The long-suffering man will be comfortable and cute if he follows
the dictum of the French Master Tailors' Federation on the proper Tuxedo for summer wear. It carries the essential features of the French navy officers' mess coat, a vest Point cadet's blouse and an Eton jacket. To the skeptical it might appear like a bellhop's uniform.

At the first showing of the new sartorial creation women went into raptures almost as intense as might overcome them at one of their own fashion shows. The men were more dubious; some became depressed and others almost belligerent.

"Oh, yeah! and Sez you!" were the sense of remarks muttered by male lips as the master tailors as they pointed out the advantages of their inventions when worn by slim mannequins.

The approved new jacket stops at the waistline, is open in front and has two rows of snappy buttons, which are perfectly useless.
The lapels are ravishing cut broad and sharp and pointed. To set the jacket off there is a white waistcoat, cut slightly lower in front.
The rear view is very enticing, the jacket coming to a point just below the waist.

Colors are important, and range from dark blue to gray and white tones. The ensemble calls for a low collar and black bow tie and black trousers.

It's More Comfortable
There is no doubt that the new style assures comfort and will relieve men daring to wear it of the boiled shirt agonies in warm weather. The chief difficulty to overcome, the master tailors admit, is the natural hesitancy of men to adopt an extreme novelty in their dress. They have not that dress sense of women, who will wear anything providing it is new. The new tuxedo is no less absurd than many of the women's novelties seen each season and accepted, but alas, men are harder to convince.

Andre de Poiqueres, recognized arbiter of male elegance in dress, who tried without much success to introduce silk knee breeches and buckled slippers a few seasons ago says that the new tuxedo, or smoking tuxedo, as it is called here, should have been introduced long ago.

Defends New Style
"This garment fills the requirements of our new mode of living,"
he declared. "The old style dinner jacket will always be indispensable because it is necessary to our atmosphere of elegance which must be maintained in France if only to support our de luxe industries, but there is no reason why men should suffer in the summer months when women sensibly and consider the new jacket extremely attractive and if men will only adopt it they will never regret the deliverance."

Millie Tonia Navar of the Comedi Francaise, who was one of the jurors at the Master Tailors' display, was very enthusiastic.
"I think the new style is marvelous. It makes men youthful, comfortable and attractive. Of course, it is created for the young, but couturiers design women's clothes that way and those who are older adapt themselves to the fashions."

All-silk Suits Displayed
Some of the suits shown were in all silk and one dispensed with collar and tie, but the coat collar came up to form a frame for the neck after the fashion of a century ago.

Men, who suffer from exaggerated waistslines will probably be reluctant to adopt the new fashion because it may emphasize the roundness, but the Master Tailors Federation is conducting a campaign to make it vogue.

"More Members; More Good Music"

The Civic Music Association, which is holding its annual membership campaign this week, is one of the institutions that has made Dixon a definitely more interesting and happier place to live.
For nominal membership dues of five dollars per year, everyone has the opportunity this week to join the Civic Music Association and enjoy the season of great music which will be presented before members of the Association next autumn and winter. Although artists will not be engaged until after the close of the campaign, the Civic Music Association now has a membership large enough to insure the presentation of excellent concerts. Meanwhile, the slogan of the campaign is

"more members in the Civic Music Association, more music for the Dixon Association."

Members of the Civic Music Association have found that it is only necessary to listen to good music in order to enjoy it. One after another, the great artists that thrill the audiences at Carnegie Hall, New York, and at Orchestra Hall, Chicago, have charmed the Civic Music Association here. The people of Dixon, after all, are not so different from those who live on Park Avenue or Lake Shore Drive.

It is emphasized that only those who secure their memberships this week may attend the civic concerts of the forthcoming season. Campaign headquarters of the Association are open at the Chamber of Commerce. Those who are unable to call at headquarters may mail their applications.
Richard Bonnell, baritone, gives the last civic concert for the season
here Monday night.

Harris Spoke on "The Price of a Laugh"

Ray Harris, song leader of the Grady Cantrell Evangelistic party, was present at the Young People's Conference last evening and gave an address on the subject of "The Price of a Laugh."

He spoke of the ones who had dared the laughs of the world and wrought great benefits to the human race. There was Robert Pul-ton who was "turned down" in France by Napoleon who was afraid of being laughed at if he were to show interest in such an invention as a "steam boat."

Alexander Bell, inventor of the telephone was laughed at by his neighbors but his work now extends throughout the world. The Continental Congress turned Bell down saying he was a fool for they

MAKING INSTRUCTIONS GIV-EN WITH THIS MODEL

Made of plain and printed fabrics, this makes a delightful youthful frock for afternoon wear. The original combined blue and beige, and it was lovely. There are long sleeves with the pattern, too, and they may be joined with or without the ruffle. We suggest flat crepe, georgette, voile, lawn, swiss or dimity. Corresponding prints, or even two plain colors might be combined successfully.

Pattern 9339 may be ordered only in sizes 14 to 20 and 332 to 44. Size 16 requires 2 1/2 yards of 39-inch faucing, 1 1/2 yards contrasting.

ANTI-TARIFF INTERNATIONALISM.

"Before we can sell we must buy." That is the one axiom upon which Democratic leaders and international bankers are continually harping as though it were an axiom. And upon that foundation they build their argument that we must break down our protective tariff so that, by affording other nations entrance into our markets we may obtain access to theirs.

It would be much nearer the truth if their "axiom" were faced about so it would read: "Before we can buy we must sell."

It is not buying that lies at the foundation of a nation's prosperity; it is selling. It doesn't make any difference at how low a price we may buy the things we need; we will never prosper unless we can sell the things we produce at a fair profit.

And whether America can sell her products at a good price depends, at least to the extent of 90 per cent, upon her home market and not upon foreign markets.

The tariff internationalists who are insisting that we break down our tariff walls on the spacious plea that if we bought from other people they would buy from us, and the banker internationalists who insist that we cancel European war debts on the plea that our debtors, if not required to pay what they owe, would buy our goods, lose track of the fact that just to the extent we sacrifice our markets and forgive our debtors to that extent we lose our selling power—for our selling power depends upon our home and not upon our foreign market. The outstanding trouble with our domestic market, which absorbs nine-tenths of all we produce, is that it already is oversupplied. How is that trouble to be cured by opening our gates to additional supplies? To permit European manufacturers, in the present crisis, to sell more freely in our domestic market—to sell to us what we already produce excessively—is to shut out our own manufacturers and increase unemployment. Is our prosperity to be promoted by upsetting our whole manufacturing structure?

Thirteen years ago the leaders of the Democratic party attempted to lead America into political internationalism through adherence to the League of Nations. The people, with a sure instinct, rejected that proposal by overwhelming majorities. Democratic leaders now are trying to lead America into economic internationalism through a bill already passed by the Democratic House of Representatives providing for a "permanent international economic conference" the avowed purpose of which is to make the American market merely part of a world market, a proposal in which America has nothing to gain and everything to lose.

The great problem before American industry right now is to reorganize the American market to the end that it may absorb the products of American farms and factories. To allow that market to be further demoralized by encouraging other countries to dump their surpluses on our shores would be to make such reorganization hopelessly difficult and postpone indefinitely our return to prosperity. Never in all our history was the protective tariff so vitally essential to America as it is now.

THE FIRST FLYER.

The republic of Brazil is about to build a monument to one Bartholomeu Cusmao; and if you don't know who he was, you may learn now that he built and, apparently, flew an airplane upwards of a century ago.

Long before the Wright brothers were born Cusmao constructed his flying machine; and contemporary records indicate that he actually succeeded in getting off the ground with it. A monument, in that case, is no more than his due.

And that brings up an interesting point. It is not enough, in this world, to invent a new way of doing things; you must persuade your fellows to follow in your footsteps. This Cusmao completely failed to do. The Wright brothers, coming much later, succeeded; and no matter what monuments are built, they are the ones history will always credit with the real conquest of the air.

We find the federal government humbly taking, in income taxes, a "cut" in the profits of crime.—Ex-Governor James M. Cox of Ohio.

The demonstrated incapacity of the Democratic party to rule the country will be one of the Republican assets in the coming campaign.—Dolly Curtis Gann, sister of Vice President Curtis.

I am in favor of anything that would help us collect our (foreign) debts.—Congressman William B. Bankhead of Alabama.

The Proposal of former Governor Smith is very complicated and apparently impracticable. — Ex-Governor Harry Byrd of Virginia.

THE STORY OF SAMUEL INSULL

Nation's Greatest Utility Magnate Began As Poor Boy Under Edison and Built $3,000,000,000 Power Chain

Editor's note: This is the first of two stories on the life of Samuel Insull, America's foremost public utility magnate, whose $2,500,000,000 Middle West Utilities Company is now in the hands of receivers.

BY JOHN W. LOVE

(Copyright, 1932, NEA Service, Inc. At 72, Samuel Insull of Chicago—foremost figure in American public utilities—looks back today on his long rise and sudden fall. His is an amazing story of finance, which has been climaxed by the "friendly" receivership of his giant Middle West Utilities Company, once worth $2,500,000,000. It is the largest business default in the world's history.

Insull began life as a poor immigrant from England. He became Thomas A. Edison's secretary and grew up with the light and power business.

At the peak of his career, he came to command more than $3,000,000,000 worth of electric power and gas enterprises, electric railways, steam railways, coal mines, street car lines, elevated railways, taxicab and bus lines, heating plants, ice plants and office buildings.

The multitude of companies he dominated operated over practically the entire eastern half of the United States. They served at least 10,000,000 persons in more than 5000 communities and had around a half million stockholders, many of whom were customers.

From Maine to Texas, the chain of Insull industries extended. The bulk of all this was in Middle West Utilities, the biggest of the Insull holding companies. Properties of his other holding companies were largely grouped in and around Chicago.

The tragedy of the great Middle West Utilities failure, 10 times bigger than the Kreuger collapse in Europe is fundamentally the same as the tragedy of the foreclosure of a small farm, only bigger and more complicated.

Prices went down, but debts remained the same and mortgages went on as before revenues declined but loans had to be paid off in the same hard dollars with which they were contracted.

Samuel Insull found himself no longer able to raise enough from his high-tension empire of electric current to meet the interest in the mortgages. And so the vast agglomeration of 100 or more operating companies known as Middle West Utilities collapsed.

This holding company, and several related companies, are now in the hands of the courts. The Middle West Company's property, properties are mainly still sound. Where operating companies do not owe too much money, their future is secure. The fate of each will depend upon what each can earn and how far these earnings will go in paying debts.

Of course it is impossible to make any general statements about the future of the store more than 100 companies gathered by Insull into the fold of his Middle West Utilities. The holding company which united them all under one general management will be taken apart. But it is practically certain that the constituent properties will be regrouped, in ways not yet clear.

All this takes place on pieces of SAMUEL INSULL AND HIS $3,000,000,000 INDUSTRIAL EMPIRE. The shaded areas in the above map show territories in which the producing units of the great Insull holding companies operate, their many diversified utilities serving nearly one of every 10 persons in the United States. The sketches below show some of the principal activities. By far the most of these operating companies (Chicago's elevated railways excepted) are in Insull's $2,500,000,000 Middle West Utilities, a holding company which is now in the hands of receivers. At the right is a closeup of Insull, who welded the vast chain.

FROM NOTHING TO $3,000,000,000!

He was a poor boy from England, he became Thomas A. Edison's secretary, he grew up with the power industry—and he built a $3,000,000 industrial chain with one of every 10 persons in the United States as his customers.

Such is the dramatic story of Samuel Insull, whose giant $2,500,000,000 Middle West Utilities Company is now in the hands of receivers, and whose career is described in two exclusive NEA articles, the first of which appears herewith.

The second story will be issued tomorrow. The series is for immediate release.

was the wealthiest in the business. He had come to this country from England as a young man in 1881. He had held a number of jobs in London, studying stenography nights and had happened to answer an advertisement for a secretary from a man who turned out to be Thomas A. Edison's son-in-law, shortly afterwards, Insull should come to America.

Soon Edison's business manager, Insull had unequalled view of the beginnings of the electric light and power industry close up. Presently he took a hand himself.

In the year of the World's Fair he became president of the company now known as Commonwealth Edison, in Chicago. This ruddy-faced tireless young man

Tax Problems Of This State

By M. H. HUNTER
University of Illinois

6. How Much Shall Governments Spend?

"Curb public expenditure" seems to be a rather general slogan with the implication that the different governmental units are spending too much money. It is proper to raise the question as to how much should be spent by the different governmental units.

The government is a cooperative enterprise. The individuals who compose it have a choice, for the most part, of providing the services for themselves directly or co-operatively through their contributions to the public treasury. Education and highways are services formerly supplied directly by individuals and which are now rather generally provided at public expense. One of the important factors which has contributed to the increase in public expenditures has been the large increase in services which the people expect to be performed by the government.

Individuals differ greatly in their opinions as to what services should be undertaken by the government. A state socialist sees no end until all services are supplied by the government, while an anarchist has little use for governmental activity. As a generalization, it may be said that a government should perform no function unless it can do it more efficiently and economically than it would have been done had the people spent their money directly for it.

Governments may spend beyond the abilities of the people just as an individual may spend beyond his ability. Just as some individuals buy Packards when they can afford but Fords, so some governmental units may levy taxes to perform services which the people really cannot afford. We see the advantages of public education, highways, etc., but to the people of many Asiatic provinces these are less important than their daily bread.

There are standards of living for governments just as well as for individuals. As long as the government does not go beyond this, and as long as the service is rendered more economically and efficiently than if the people performed it for themselves, the expenditure is justified. Just because public expenditures have increased is not to condemn them. One can only judge as to their merit when other facts are considered.

DEBTOR NATIONS ASKED TO WRITE PAYMENT PLEDGE

State Department Is Sending Requests Out This Month

Washington, Apr. 21.—(AP)—Formal requests have gone to the nations which benefitted by the one-year moratorium expiring next June, to place in legal form their agreements to pay the United States their postponed war debt installments over a ten-year period.

This new element in the debt situation, disclosed yesterday, stirred considerable interest, because of its coinciding with renewed clamor over cancellation or revision, and the British budget's omission of the debt item from the budget just presented to parliament.

But State Department officials maintained it was a routine step, which had been delayed much longer than normal. Partly at least, this was because the moratorium, beginning last July, was not ratified by Congress until mid-winter. Whether administration hopes of success for President Hoover's proposal that the War Debt Funding Commission be revived, were a factor in the long delay, was a matter in speculation. Congress put a quietus on that right after the suggestion was advanced and at every opportunity leading members have reasserted their unalterable opposition to anything that bordered on cancellation moves by this country. There has been every indication that the administration accepted the situation, and had no intention of going any further.

In some quarters the suggestion was advanced that the State Department was pressing the question now to prevent any attempt by European debtor nations to merge last year's unpaid balances with possible default on payments coming due after the moratorium expires.

BUDGET ATTACKED

London, April 21.—(AP)—Failure of the National government to provide in the new budget for war debt payments to the United States has brought down on the administration an attack from the Labor opposition.

The omission was assailed in the House of Commons yesterday by Major C. R. Aldie, Labor spokesman, who said Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer who presented the budget Tuesday, apparently proceeded on the principle that no American payments would have to be made.

"There is already a reminder from the United States," Major Aldie said, "that there is not the slightest chance of getting any relief from that quarter, therefore the Chancellor hasn't really met the budget situation in this respect at all."

The public has paid little attention to the debts phase of the budget.

Persistence Does It

All the performances of human art, at which we look with praise or wonder, are instances of the resistance of persistence; it is by this that the quarry becomes a pyramid, and that distant countries are united with canals. If a man was to compare the effect of a single stroke of a pickaxe, or of one impression of the spade, with the general design and last result, he would be overwhelmed by the sense of their disproportion; yet those petty operations incessantly continued, in time surmount the greatest difficulties, and mountains are leveled, and oceans bounded by the slender force of human beings.—Johnson.

UNSCHEDULED DEATHS

Washington.—Miscellaneous or unscheduled airplane flights took a toll of 237 lives during the last half of 1931, the Aeronautics Branch of the U. S. Department of Commerce reports. In all there were 1,212 accidents in this type of flying, 144 of which involved fatalities.

WORLD WAR YARNS

BY * * * YARNS
LIEUT. FRANK E. HAGAN

The First American Killed
The first American citizen killed in the World War lost his life on February 27, 1915, more than two years before this country formally entered the conflict. He was Edward Mandell Stone, a native of Chicago, who was twenty-seven years old at the time of his death. Stone's sacrifice is remembered. Each year his death is the inspiration for two separate ceremonies. The date of his passing, February 27, has been designated as the time when the Association of American Volunteers With the French Army, 1914-1917, each year reanimates the Eternal Flame on the tomb of France's Unknown Soldier at the Arc de Triomphe.

On Memorial day every year the American Legion directs a rite at the grave of Stone in the cemetery of Romilly-sur-Seine. One of the interesting features of this latter ceremony is that the French woman who, as volunteer nurse, wrote the last letter for Stone and was beside him when he died, is a participant. She is now schoolmistress of the school in La Villeneuve-aux-Chatelots.

Stone lived in Paris and was in the American diplomatic service when the World War began. He enlisted in the French Foreign Legion, August 21, 1914, with the first group of American citizens.

Less than six months later—on February 15, 1915, while serving as a private in Battalion B, Second Regiment of the Foreign Legion, he was wounded so severely he died 12 days later.

Stone was in the trenches near Craonne in the Aisne when wounded. He "went west" in the military hospital at Romilly-sur-Seine. The first American citizen to die received, posthumously, both the Croix de Guerre and Medaille Militaire.

Sundial for Nightwork

A sort of sundial which works without the sun is being erected on the top of a Moorish tower in the gardens of the port of Guayaquil, in Ecuador. A powerful beacon light is being revolved from the top of the tower, operated electrically from a synchronized clock. The beams of light, which makes a complete revolution every 12 hours, will tell the time at night by shining on a number of well-known landmarks as it revolves. The same spots will be lighted up at the same time every night.

Odd Australian Animal

The jerboa, or jerboa rat, which inhabits the southern portion of Australia is an interesting little animal. Its body is three inches, its tail four inches long, the last inch of the tail being black and tufted like a lion's. The body color is gray, white underneath. The hind legs resemble those of a kangaroo, the white feet having four claws. The short front legs have five fingers. Its head is pointed, its ears particularly large, eyes small and bright.

Boost for Bostonese

"American Well Wisher" writes in the London Daily Telegraph, "Londoners pay the Americans a compliment (quite unwittingly) when he credits them with giving the first letter in the alphabet its right pronunciation. A cultured and much-traveled friend, an Englishman, told me that the best English man ever heard spoken was in Boston (Mass., U. S. A.). Having lived there many years I believe this to be true."

CANADIAN AIR MAIL

Montreal.—The report of the Civil Aviation Branch of the Department of National Defense shows that Canadian air mail was used more in 1931 than in any other year since its start. More than 483,490 pounds of mail matter were flown last year, as compared with 474,200 in 1930.

Machine Gun Stops Miners in Coal War

Machine gunners from a battalion of the 145th Infantry Ohio National Guard are shown confronting a marching column of striking miners at Adena, near Cadiz, O., where three were killed in 24 hours of rioting. Troops were ordered out after county officials had been stoned. A parade of striking miners carrying the American flag met the national guardsmen but halted near the Somers mine, owned by the Goodyear company, when they encountered the machine gun. Strikers are trying to keep miners from returning to work.

Envoy Mellon Welcomed to England

Hailed by British statesmen as "a valuable import" and "a bearer of hope" former Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon is shown above (left) as he arrived in England to assume his duties as United States Ambassador. "Next to my own country, I feel most at home here," he smilingly told formally-robed Mayor F. Woolley (right) of Southampton, who welcomed him.

DEATH PENALTY WILL BE ASKED FOR MURDERER

Mattoon Man's Slay- er Went To Trial In Charleston

Charleston, Ill., April 21.—(AP)—Murder charges against Joseph Dennis of Shelbyville are being investigated by the April term of the Coles county grand jury impaneled here this week by Judge George W. Bristow.

Dennis confessed to the murder of Virgil Swank, 22-year-old Mattoon filling station operator, after Swank's widow identified him as her husband's slayer in a "show up" of prisoners in the Decatur city jail on February 9, and after ballistic experts in Chicago had declared the gun taken from Dennis in Decatur to be the one from which the bullet taken from Swank's body had been fired.

Young Swank was killed and robbed on Sunday night, Jan. 24 in Mattoon as he was examining the oil in his murderer's automobile, which had been driven into his station just before closing time.

Swank's wife stood inside of the station and saw the stranger as he stepped from the car but had turned to a radio as the fatal shot was fired.

Dennis was arrested in Decatur after a running gun battle with police of that city following a filling station robbery there. When arrested, police observed that his gun, a .32 revolver, had a notch cut on its handle.

Following the ballistic report and Dennis' arrest for the murder, officers called his attention to the "notch" in his gun. With a smile, he admitted that he placed it there after the killing of Swank.

State's Attorney C. M. Heinlein stated today that he expects to demand the death penalty. Dennis has expressed a hope from his cell here that, if he has to die, he "may go to the chair like that other fellow," meaning Merle Johnson, who paid the supreme penalty last fall at Chester penitentiary for the murder of a Mattoon woman and her two small children. It was Judge George W. Bristow who sentenced Johnson last summer and it will be Judge Bristow on the bench when Dennis is given a hearing.

Dennis has indicated that he will not seek a trial for the murder.

Ten Held in Kidnaping of Illinois Physician

After an unsuccessful attempt to collect $50,000 ransom in the kidnaping of Dr. James W. Parker of Peoria, 12 persons were arrested for the crime and six are said to have confessed participation. The doctor was held for 18 days and was released when no money was paid. After weeks of sleuthing police rounded up the gang which included two women members. Eleven of the alleged gang are shown above after their arrest. They are left to right, seated: Mrs. Nellie Meninger, 31; Edward Woodford, 27; Arlo Stoops, 23; Dean Stoops, 17; Mrs. Bessie Stoops, 36. Standing: Cecil Meninger, 31; Raymond Stoops, 37; Homer Massey, 30; Claude Evans, 49; Joseph Pursifull and James W. Betson. The last two were released after questioning.

"I am not in the habit of taking marching orders from Democratic sources, but here, at last, is a point upon which I can line up with Al Smith," said Hyde, after quoting the latter's promise to take off his coat and vest against the candidate for the presidency who persisted in making demagogic appeals, a quotation universally accepted as directed at Roosevelt.

Hyde, early in his address picked up the words "little fellow" from the Roosevelt address and stressed them again and again in laying down the case for his assertion that President Hoover's program of aid to banks, railroads and big corporations had as its primary purpose to release the strangle hold which fear and panic have had upon the credit and the job of the "little fellow."

SECOND SERMON ON PENTECOST WEDNESDAY EVE

Evangelist Cantrell Says Power Of Pentecost Is At Hand

Evangelist Grady Cantrell preached the second sermon of a series of four upon "Pentecost Power" at last night's service at the tabernacle on West Bond st. Deep interest is being manifested in these sermons as may be noted in the great crowds that gather to hear them and the close attention given by the audience.

There was a ready response by the church members to the evangelist's appeal at the close to fill the upper room for the after service of consecration and prayer. This room constructed at the left of the choir platform accommodates forty people and has been full each evening since the first appeal was made. A different group gathers each night, as the purpose of the service is to pledge each church member to daily Bible reading and prayer, attendance at church services and stewardship. Of the one hundred and sixty who have passed through the room all but four have taken the pledge and there have been four conversions, although the invitation to those outside the church has not yet been stressed.

A good sized delegation from the Harmon Methodist church was present last night. Rev. N. A. Bop, pastor of the Christian church of Lanark was present and brought his car loaded with folks from that town.

Rev. W. Clark Williams, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of Mt. Morris was the speaker at the business women's banquet last evening at the Christian church. His message was highly complemented. This group, under leadership of Mrs. Ray Harris, meet once a week around the banquet table to stir up interest in the revival.

Dick Choate again conducted the young People's Conference service at the Christian church. Mrs. Cantrell and Mrs. Harris will have the program in charge at the meeting at 6:45 this evening.

A special meeting for men only is announced for Sunday afternoon at 2:30. At this meeting Rev. Cantrell will deliver a lecture to men entitled, "Wine, Women and Gambling." The evangelist announced that he would preach Sunday night upon, "How you Can Have What You Want, from Marbles to Millions."

Ray Harris, song leader and soloist, sang a spiritual at last night's service entitled, "My Dream, It Rains." He was heartily endorsed. Approaching his theme for the evening, Rev. Cantrell, gave a brief review of the sermon of the preceding evening. Pursuing his discourse, he said in brief:

"The results of Pentecost came because the people were of one accord and prayed for God to send upon them certain things.

"Because they prayed for the things that God wanted them (and us) to pray for, and have always—God answered. And the results of Pentecost and the days that followed have amazed the world for two thousand years.

"And ever since we have prayed for the power of the Holy Spirit, thinking that was the secret—it was. But remember they did not receive the Holy Spirit because they prayed for him—nor neither will we.

"The power of the Holy Spirit came because they had prepared and met God's conditions. God's Holy Spirit is like God's Sunshine—when you get in the right place at the right time, you get it. I'll take that part up Friday night.

"Tomorrow night I'm going to talk on 'What They Prayed For.' Last night I tried to show you what seemed, to me, to be the most important factor of Pentecost and the days that followed. They were of one accord. Tomorrow night I want to talk on the second most important contributor to Pentecost.

"Tonight I want to talk about some of the minor factors contributing to Pentecost—yet so important it is impossible for God to work without them.

"I have saved the third most important factor to close my talk tonight. The words of Jesus in Luke 24:49 in which He commanded them to tarry."

Mr. Cantrell used several apt stories to illustrate his sermon. He kept the audience in a good humor and laughing frequently by his witty remarks and humorous illustrations. By the smile of recognition it was evident that most everyone had at some time seen old brother "Dill Pickle" or sister "Susie Good-Enough."

"Rough stuff?" smiled Grady. "That's what I live on. The doctors say we Americans are deteriorating because we eat too much soft food. That is why my wife feeds me on bran three times a day."

Fear Sensationalism.
But you are afraid the evangelist is too sensational?" he asked. "The Lord brought Old Jerusalem the biggest sensation she ever had on the Day of Pentecost. Old Jonah was sensational. Mary was sensational when she washed Jesus' feet. Stephen was sensational when he defied the Sanhedrin. Jesus and the apostles were the most sensational people of the age. What is sensation? Something that hasn't happened before. God always creates a sensation whenever He does anything. He never works like any human being."

He referred to the part God had assigned preaching in his plan of salvation, quoting from Paul in Corinthians: "By the foolishness of preaching it has pleased God to save them that believe." Further he said, "Peter preached the message straight from the shoulder. He told that crowd that they were a dirty bunch of murderers. He made it stick, too. They repented and were saved. Peter was an evangelist. There is a difference between pastor and evangelist. If I took a church as pastor I would buy a return ticket. They would come in three months. I know better than to try it. I am an evangelist. It is like the difference between a physician and a surgeon. The physician helps you when you are sick, gives you pills and other dope, but when he discovers something wrong within your body that needs different treatment, he calls the surgeon. The surgeon lays you out on the operating table puts on his little apron and takes his scalpel and cuts and digs and gouges until he removes whatever it is that is causing the trouble. Then you get well and feel fine. But who would want a surgeon hanging round all the time? The three contributing causes of the manifestation of power on the Day of Pentecost were set forth in last night's sermon as enthusiasm, giving and the devout audience.

"Enthusiasm," said the evangelist, "is not merely frothing and making a great demonstration. It is a fire within that drives and impels one to action. We must first get on fire for God, before we can influence others. What the church lacks most today is the old time fire and enthusiasm of the early disciples and the kind that produced the mighty revival of religion of our fore fathers. Have you ever noticed the difference people manifest in their attitude when the ice wagon goes by and the fire wagon goes by?"

"In Luke 24:49, Jesus commanded the disciples to 'tarry in the city of Jerusalem.' To tarry does not mean merely sitting idly by and waiting. It means to have fellowship with Christ and with his apostles. They were busy as they tarried. Ten days of the time they spent in prayer and fellowship in the Upper Room. They tarried a while and received power. Then they went out and won an empire for Christ."

The evangelist closed his sermon with a very dramatic and spectacular portrayal of Paul's going up to Jerusalem to tarry a fortnight with the apostle, Peter. He will continue in developing his theme tonight by stressing what the disciples prayed for and the results they desired.

POET'S CORNER

LOVE WILL CLAIM ITS OWN
Upon a planet beyond the nebulous distant far,
Lived Ithomo and Cadorey upon that very bright star.

It was rumored there of a world reached through ether waves
"Traveler of spirit might find, as in mystery it leaves."
The reward is found there of beauty rare, a gold light all the day.
A dark sky with silver light, a roof of diamond inlay.

Beneath are flowers that blossom in colors wondrous fair;
Birds who wear a frock of colors grand, are ever singing there.

The floor is gently covered with a carpet green and white.
The souls who reach that earthly place, find sacred fond delight.

But there must feel pain; if he means that great sphere, see beauty fade.
But can promote the soul, by grace, the zenith to engage."

Infolded in loves strong embrace Ithomo and Cadorey,
Each in their ship of pearl, touched this earthly sphere through mystery.

Alone each came, as the ages pass. To service called.
Each in their mission, aware that service had walled.

The gulf between—he a priest in service true, dutiful alone.
She a missionary—the pilgrimage finished, God claims his own.

—Inez Maureen Greer.

Business Picking Up At Big Stadium

Chicago, Apr. 21—(AP)—If the amount of profitable business done by the Chicago Stadium Corporation during the first three months of the year is an indication, prosperity has at least peeked around that famous corner.

Sidney N. Strotz, president of the corporation, today reported earnings of $69,762 after all administrative expenses and taxes had been deducted for the period. The amount, however, does not include depreciation charges or interest on mortgages.

It is, however, $29,000 more than the net earnings for all of last year. Since last November 615,735 persons have paid to see events at the Stadium. Hockey drew $127,000 worth of trade; eleven boxing shows brought in $350,781; two renewals of the six-day bicycle race $85,000; concessions $96,179, and a rodeo $15,000.

The first use of chlorine gas in the World War was on April 22, 1915, when the Germans used it in an attack against the French and British lines in the northeastern part of the upper Ypres salient.

Just a Bit of Dry Humor

The camera doesn't lie, so what you see must be true—Bishop James Cannon, Jr., (left) with his foot on a brass rail, and Canon William S. Chase (right) jovially joining him at the bar. But don't think the world has turned upside down. The "saloon" was only a realistic anti-liquor exhibit at the "Prohibition Fair" in Washington, and the two dry leaders were merely obliging the cameraman. The fair was sponsored by the Women's National Committee for Law Enforcement.

Shade-Kilbourne Battle This Eve
Chicago, Apr. 21—(AP)—Dave Shade, whose 15 years of ring activity seem to rest slightly on him, and Jack Kilbourne, who has become somewhat of a sensation among the middleweights, meet in a ten round bout at White City tonight.

Kilbourne, an unusually sharp boxer and a fair puncher, won his four Chicago starts easily and impressively over Ray Trumble, Roy Williams, Haakon Hansen and Harry Fuller, but the veteran Californian was a 7 to 5 favorite today. They met several years ago in California when Kilbourne was starting out, Shade winning a decision victory.

Kilbourne, a native of Iowa, spent a year in Australia where he

Sabotage Blamed For Fatal Wreck

Portsmouth, O., April 21—(AP)—A passenger train on the Norfolk & Western Railroad was wrecked by an act of sabotage, 20 miles east of here early today, and two of its crew were killed.

Railroad investigators said the wreck was caused by the malicious removal of four bolts from a switch. An 18-year-old boy was arrested for questioning.

The train, No. 4, bound from Cincinnati to Norfolk, Va., was traveling 65 miles an hour when it struck the switch. Two express cars and the locomotive overturned, and two coaches, one Pullman car and a mail car were derailed but remained upright.

Engineer J. H. Myers and Fireman J. J. Kemp, both of Portsmouth, died in the wreck. Two mail clerks and an express messenger were injured, but will recover.

Passengers in the coaches and sleeping cars were shaken and bruised, but none of them reported serious injuries.

NEW "UNKNOWN" BIDS FOR PLACE ON TENNIS TEAM

Young Yonkers Doctor Defeats Van Ryn In Straight Sets

White Sulphur Spring, W. Va., Apr. 20.—(AP)—The harried tennis fathers, whose business it is to select the right combination to represent the United States in Davis Cup play this summer, found themselves today with a brand new prospect to consider.

Eugene McCauliff, young doctor of philosophy from Yonkers, N. Y., became the latest "unknown" to force his way into the thoughts of the committee when he scored a surprising straight set victory over John Van Ryn of Philadelphia, the country's fourth-ranking star, in the quarter-finals of the Mason and Dixon tournament here yesterday.

McCauliff, far down in the national ranking, looked like a champion as he turned back the Davis Cup doubles veteran, 6-2, 6-4, 9-7. His high bounding service and swift returns had Van Ryn on the defensive all the way and he proved his fighting ability to come from behind and win after trailing 2-5 in the final set.

Following the Yonkers youth into the semi-finals was a veteran who already is assured a place on the cup team, Wilmer Allison of Austin, Texas. Allison eliminated J. Gilbert Hall of South Orange, N. J., 6-2, 6-1, 6-3.

In one of the quarter-final tilts scheduled for today, the national champion, Ellsworth Vines Jr., was to have his first test of the year against Gregory Mangin of Newark, the new indoor titleholder. In the other bracket Frank Shields of New York was paired against Marcel L. Rainville, Canadian star. McCauliff is in the bracket with Vines and Mangin and will face one or the other in Friday's semi-finals.

Baseball Gossip

By GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

While it doesn't show in the records, it appears this early that the country's two major baseball leagues will provide a "show down" this season on the brand of ball the customers want.

The American League, standing by the "rabbit" ball, is fashioning more and gaudier home runs than ever before. It is still a hitter's league in the fullest sense of the word. The National circuit, with its less lively sphere, is playing them close to the vest, regaling its patrons with low-hit, fast-fielding exhibitions.

Through yesterday's games there had been a total of 38 four-baggers hit in the American league, compared to 19 in the National, and the pitchers of John Heyler's league generally have fared much better than those of the junior circuit.

Just what the fans' final decision will be still is a matter of conjecture, but the American League magnates received a world of encouragement yesterday when 60,000 packed into Yankee Stadium to watch Joe McCarthy's sluggers open their home season with an 8 to 3 victory over the Athletics.

It was the largest crowd of the season thus far, and it was treated to a typical slam-bang performance. Connie Mack's two aces, Lefty Grove and George Earnshaw were treated very roughly. Ruth, Larry and Dickey leading the assault on them with the "Yankee" daily quota of homers. The slim Castilian, Lefty Gomez, scored his second win of the year over the league champions.

The Washington Senators kept pace with Detroit at the top of the standing with a ninth inning rally that beat the Red Sox, 4 to 3. In addition to pitching five-hit ball, Bobby Bueh singled across the winning run in the ninth.

Cleveland's opening day crowd saw the Indians drop a 2 to 1 decision to the fast-traveling Detroiters. George Uhle, Tiger veteran, allowed only five hits, three of which were bunched in the second inning for the Indians' lone run.

Sam Gray of the St. Louis Browns hurled his second shut-out of the year in downing the weak-hitting White Sox, 5 to 0. Carey Selph, rookie infielder, made two of the Sox three hits.

Red Lucas, who at last seems to have a club back of him worthy of his talents, pitched the ambitious Cincinnati Reds to a 7 to 2 win over the Chicago Cubs before an inaugural crowd of 30,000 at Wrigley Field. Joe Morrissey, the rookie shortstop, knocked in four of the Reds' runs.

The champion St. Louis Cardinals plumbed new depths as they lost their fifth consecutive game to the Pittsburgh Pirates, 7 to 0, and fell into a deadlock with the Giants for last place in the National League. It marked the first time in the last three seasons that the Redbirds have dropped five in a row. Steve Swetonic allowed the champs only three hits, all singles.

The Giants, led by bruising Bill Terry, tore into four Philly pitchers for 17 hits and a 14 to 5 triumph at Baker Bowl. Terry hit two homers for the second straight day and batted in five runs. Old Clarence Mitchell did the pitching honors.

Brooklyn and the Boston Braves had an off day.

YESTERDAY'S STARS—Won his own game from the Red Sox with a single after two were out in the ninth.

Babe Ruth Yankees—His towering homer and a timely single helped beat the Athletics.

George Uhle, Tigers—Held Cleveland to five hits to win a pitchers' battle, 2 to 1.

Sam Gray, Browns—Scored his second shut-out of the year, allowing the White Sox three hits.

Joe Morrissey, Reds—Banged in four runs with two doubles and a single to help beat the Cubs, 7 to 2.

Steve Swetonic, Pirates—Blanked the champion Cardinals 7 to 0, with three hits.

fall, Mrs. Levy rounded up all the out-size heavyweights in the neighborhood for training purposes.

Wade a Minute! Here's a New Co-Ed Sport

"Kindergarten sports" are the rage among co-eds at the University of Missouri this spring, with wading and leap-frog leading the list in popularity. Here are Frances Curtis and Helen Brunkhorst enjoying themselves in a nearby branch. And, the girls say, wading is just as much fun now as it was 10 years ago.

Do You Remember?

One Year Ago Today—Jumbo Jim Elliott, giant pitcher traded by Brooklyn to the Phillies, avenged the insult a second time within a week by humbling the Robins 7 to 3. The defeat tumbled the Brooklyn entry into the National League cellar.

Five Years Ago Today—Phil Scott retained his British heavyweight championship on a foul when Yale Okun of New York was disqualified for hitting low. Their bout was scheduled for 20 rounds in London.

Ten Years Ago Today—My Play, three-year-old brother of Man of War, took the Susquehanna purse, a six-furlong dash for three-year-olds in the feature spot at Havre de Grace.

Glenna Shows Old Time Form To Win

Hot Springs, Va., Apr. 21.—(AP)—Another brilliant golfing achievement that brought her the Old Dominion championship was in the records today as Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare looked back upon her victory over the difficult Homestead course.

Playing in the form that led her to the national championship, Mrs. Vare defeated Miss Grace Amory of the Seminole Club, Palm Beach 7 and 6 yesterday, and then played out the round in record-breaking figures.

Her 72 was only one above men's par and was six strokes under the previous record established by Helen Hicks, 1931 Old Dominion champion.

She was out in 35, one under men's par, and finished the second nine with a 37.

A 71 scored earlier in her golfing career remains Mrs. Vare's best round.

Carlinville, Ill., Apr. 21.—(AP)—Twenty-five students of Carlinville high school have gone on what they termed a "strike" because the Board of Education did not tender Athletic Coach Leigh Green a contract this year after two years of service.

The students, all boys, left their classes yesterday, threw pickets about the building that permitted no one but teachers to enter and sent a delegation to members of the

POLO AND DIXON IN DUAL TRACK MEET TOMORROW

Juniors Winners Of Inter-class Meet Held This Week

By DON HILLIKER

Adding 18 points Wednesday the Juniors won the 1932 high school class meet with a total of 78.5 points. The Seniors ran second with 44 3-5; the Sophomores placed third on 18 scores and the Freshmen had six and one-half points for last position. The first dual meet of the season will be held Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Polo high meets the locals on the north side field and no admission will be charged.

Last evening the Juniors had two firsts when Strong led the broad jumpers and Smith took the half mile. Ogan was far out in front in the javelin throw. The 880 yard relay saw two of the three entries disqualified. The Juniors broke the tape with the Seniors and Sophomores trailing. It developed that the Seniors and Juniors quartets had been disqualified for runners "cutting in" so the decision went to the Sophomore team.

Ogan, Senior, led the scoring for the three days of competition with 28 1-5 points. He had three firsts, three seconds, two thirds, and a tie for fourth for his total. Strong and McReynolds were next with 18 points each.

Following is a summary of yesterday afternoon's events:

Broad jump—Strong, Jr., first; Ogan, Sr., second; Flannigan, So., third; Williams, Jr., fourth. Distance—18 ft. 5 in.

880 yard dash—Smith, Jr., first; Compton, Sr., second; William, Jr., third; Padgett, So., fourth. Time—2 min. 10 sec.

Javelin throw—Ogan, Sr., first; Strong, Jr., second; C. Daniels, Jr., third; R. Daniels, Sr., fourth. Distance—144 ft. 8 in.

880 yard relay—Won by Sophomores, (Henry, Knapp, Stahl, Flannigan.) Time—1 min. 43.6 sec.

and 30 seconds.

The Windjammer won class "A" honors by a margin of more than an hour and a half over Huston Wall's schooner, Hallogan, of Tampa, which finished at 7:28.

Skippers reported adverse winds or dead calm the entire distance causing the crafts to make the slowest time in the three years the race has been held.

Nature Seems To Have Made Steve

Pittsburgh, Apr. 21.—(AP)—It begins to look as though the day out in Dallas, when something snapped in Steve Swetonic's right arm, it was a lucky day for the Pittsburgh Pirates.

At any rate the "home boy" who was a dismal failure from the day he donned a Buc uniform and whose release was predicted all through the winter, looked like somebody else yesterday as he held the St. Louis Cardinals to three hits.

Manager George Gibson, slapping the little curver on the back as he came out of the showers yesterday, told about the "stitch" that may have his nine from the second division.

Steve's arm was "terrible" last season. Doctors looked at it and shook their heads. Then came an operation. Still his muscles seemed bound and he complained of pains in his shoulder.

But one day a few weeks ago in Dallas, Steve, still trying, "bore down," shot a fast one across—and something happened.

"It was like a stitch in the arm," he explained. "Something snapped. Then the pain went away. My muscle was back in place."

The doctors said nature had done the trick.

Sunday Steve worked three scoreless innings against the Cincinnati Reds. Yesterday he held the world champion Cards hitless for eight and two-thirds innings and shut them out hands down.

Now the Pirates expect him to fill the gap left by failure of Heinie Meine to sign a contract.

Hooks and Slides

By William Braucher

Between now and June 16 things may become very much better or very much worse, but the Schmeling-Sharkey fight ought to draw $500,000 anyway. With a $15 top, the gate might go even beyond that. Not even the most optimistic will venture a guess above $600,000.

ONE LESSON LEARNED

Having predicted last year that the United States would win back the Davis Cup and that Cornell would be first under the wire at Poughkeepsie, this column has ceased forecasting on tennis and crew events.

ABOUT TOP FLIGHT

Old horsemen say Top Flight will not win the Derby because fillies cannot keep their minds on the race in the spring of their third year of life. The fillets!

GUESSING IS FREE

One guess is about as good as another on the Derby if you leave Top Flight out of the reckoning. But it seems to me that this Lucky Tom will be the one the winner will have to pass.

TOO MANY FINDS

New York baseball writers declare Schumacher of the Giants will be the year's pitching sensation. Cleveland writers believe the great discovery of 1932 will turn out to be Oral Hildebrand. Just as a rash guess, this column believes that either the New York writers or the Cleveland writers, or both, will be wrong.

DEMPSEY-CARNERA

While it is the unalterable belief in this corner that Jack Dempsey is not coming back at all, he is the very man to knock Carnera for a loop.

RAMAGE-ROSENBLUM

If Lee Ramage ever gets his hands on Maxie Rosenblum, the light heavyweight championship of the world will go west.

THE SCHAEFER BAT

The camouflaged bat that Goose Goslin tried to get away with recalls the curved club that Germany Schaefer wanted to use many years ago. It was shaped like a parenthesis mark, and it was Germany's idea that by swinging the convex surface into a ball he could get more power behind a blow. They wouldn't let him use it.

HARD ON THE EYES

The theory of the striped bat of Goslin's was that it would get pitchers' goats. This was denied by Tommy Thomas of the White Sox, who declared that pitchers aim at a spot, and disregard the bat. Thomas, however, expressed the opinion that it would be disconcerting to infielders.

HERMAN IN FORM

Babe Herman started the season for the Reds in perfect form. In the very first game, he slammed one almost to the fence in right center, and that's a smash in the big Cincinnati park. However, he stumbled over first base, fell and was held to a single.

THE HOP, STEP

The United States has not won a hop, step and jump event in the Olympic games since Myer Prinstein's victory in 1904. And there doesn't seem to be a chance this year, either, with Miklo Oda coming over with the Japanese team.

Incomplete returns of the Canadian census taken last June set the population of the Dominion at about 10,360,000. Returns from isolated spots in the north held up final tabulations.

Three Nations Unite In Warring Against Locusts

Washington, D. C. —(Special)—Three nations—France, England and Italy—have united in a war on the locust. All three have large colonial possessions in Africa, the chief home of the insect, and according to the terms of the new agreement, data about locusts and methods of controlling them will be made available to all at a central clearing house for information, in London.

"It is almost impossible for anyone who has not seen a plague of locusts to realize their size and numbers, and the horrors of living for weeks at a time in a country where locusts fly into your face, enter your house and even drop into your food," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Keep them from Alighting
When a locust "cloud" looms on the horizon in Africa hundreds of Arab and Spanish laborers, over-land-owners themselves, and semi nomadic Arab children go into the fields and walk abreast in an almost straight line, beating old wooden palls, empty boxes, a vegetable can, or a drum, or blowing a tin trumpet or twirling a policeman's rattle. Each person or child walks in a furrow to himself, attempting, by deafening noises, to keep the locusts from settling. Frequently owners of plantations build great fires and make them smoke to keep swarms of locusts in motion.

"If, however, the locusts do succeed in alighting, nothing can drive them off. Usually they take wing again the following morning—after stripping everything green from the landscape—unless the time has arrived for the female locust to lay her eggs. The female digs holes in the earth two or three inches deep, in which she deposits from sixty to seventy eggs, enveloped in a glutinous secretion, shaped somewhat like an ear of wheat.

"Men have to plow and spade every inch of the ground when the eggs are laid, for the nymphs hatched from the eggs are more destructive than the locusts, and the only way to prevent the eggs from hatching is to uncover them and leave them in the open sunlight.

Fire and Water Fail
The period of incubation is 21 days; then tiny creatures—called nymphs—crawl out. They remain quiet for two days and then begin to eat. They eat and eat and eat!

"Men with torches burn the nymphs by the millions, but they crawl out of the earth faster than the hand of man can destroy them. The first one to come out

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE.)

"My goodness, what's this all about? We scared those skinny men, no doubt. I guess they think we'd hurt them, but of course they are wrong."

"They are as thin as they can be and it would seem unfair to me for us to even touch them when we are so big and strong."

The others thought that Scouty was correct in what he thought because they, too, had seen the skinny men. Wee Windy shortly cried:

"Well, let's let them go on their way. If they don't care to stop and play, it's time to get poor Duncy from that house. He's still inside."

"Let's walk right in that great big door. That's what it's on the strange house for. I wouldn't be surprised if we'd find Duncy snoring loud."

"We'll wake him with a thump. And, gee, won't he be tickled when he's with his own good crowd?"

Brave Coppy was the first to get up to the door and you can bet he rapped upon it with such force, then waited quite a while. "Nobody answers," Windy cried. "Come on, we'll force our way inside. The skinny think the lock will keep us out. It makes me smile."

"Hey, there's a window," Scouty cried. "And it is standing open wide. We will not have to use our force. We'll simply crawl right through."

"Give me a boost. I'm not afraid and when that window ledge is made I'll walk right up to Duncy and then bring him out to you."

And so two of the Tinsies stood and held their hands as best they could. Wee Scouty crawled up on them and they boosted him up high.

He grabbed the window and hung tight and said, "I know I'll be all right, but get a log and break the door if you should hear me cry."

(Duncy is rescued in the next story.)

takes the lead, and the others follow in swarms many feet wide. They make a curious noise, like the sound of the sea.

"It seems incredible that a thing so small and insignificant is so difficult to destroy. Build great fires and the swarms of crawling wriggling nymphs will smother them, those in front being burned by millions, and those in the rear pushing on and passing over the burned bodies of the leaders. They will block and fill up a sluggish African stream, and the millions in the rear will pass over, unharmed."

"The government sends troops to aid in the defense, for it means ruin and starvation to thousands inches, but when deeply covered they smother to death. "The young locusts are most destructive, selecting the choicest vegetables or tender shoots and green leaves. It takes weeks for them to develop from a tiny, black nymph into a full-sized locust, but they increase rapidly in size, and one can almost see their legs and wings develop."

Used as Food and Fodder
Saint John the Baptist is spoken of as having lived on locusts and wild honey. From the earliest times the tribes that dwell on or near the great deserts of Persia, Arabia, and Africa have eaten dried locusts as food, and they will keep on doing so as long as huge swarms fly out of the desert.

"Arabs eat the flesh of locusts when killed by themselves, but refrain if their death has been caused by cold or the hand of an infidel, as they are then considered impure. Locusts are eaten after the legs, wings and heads have been picked off."

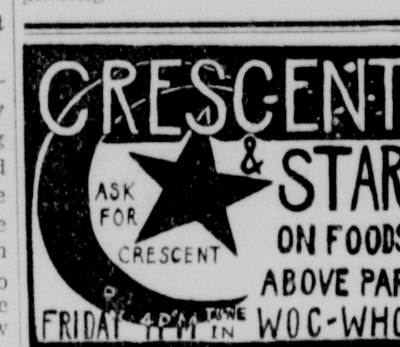

"They are either grilled or boiled and prepared with native wheat. If dried in the sun they are ground to powder and mixed with goats' or camels' milk and cooked in fat or butter and salt. Almost every animal devours locusts; even camels appear to like them as food."

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

ABRAHAM'S GENEROSITY

Text 13:5-15.
By WILLIAM E. GILROY.
No lesson could be more appropriate for study at the present hour than the story of Abraham's ideal and practice of peace in a far distant age. In one section of the globe armies are in conflict, while in another section the representatives of nations, that are armed in militaristic rivalry as never before in history, are met in conference to consider the possibility of promoting peace through disarmament. One cannot consider this lesson, and then view the world, without realizing how the modern world with its pretense of progress, and its tendency to despise the past, still lags far behind Abraham and other great seers and prophets of the past who had the vision of peace and the daring to practice it.

The story of our lesson presents with much vividness exactly the sort of situation that through the course of history has made for strife between individuals, between families, between communities and between nations. The occasion was a question not only of material interests but of alleged rights.

In a pastoral world the good pastures and the accessible watering places constituted the highest boon. For these, men were ready to fight with their fellows, and despite the family relationship between Lot and Abraham, the herdsmen of the two men were quarreling over the best feeding grounds.

It was in this situation that Abraham rose to the height of that sublime devotion to peace which constitutes him a pioneer and leader, to whom we may look "Let there be no strife," he said, "between your herdsmen and my herdsmen." And the ground of his appeal was equally striking. "For," he said, "we be brethren."

To have expressed all that in sentiment would have been very pleasant; but what would it have been worth, if it had been a mere pretense, under which Abraham was determined to grab the best for himself?

The real power and worth of Abraham's course lay in the fact that he dared to act in accordance with his inner vision and ideal. He said to Lot, "You make your choice. You go to the right and I will go to the left, or you take the left and I will go to the right." Nothing could have been more magnanimous or more complete in its conciliation.

Lot responded, as many men would, by an utter failure to appreciate that magnanimity. He chose what he considered the best country, leaving poor Abraham to make the best of what was left.

But how blind Lot was in his eager self-interest, and what dire consequences came from his choice! He chose the way that seemed to make for his own aggrandizement, but it was a way that led him to trouble and disaster. His choice brought upon him the moral destruction of his family and the ruin of his career.

On the other hand, Abraham with his temporary sacrifice went onward in the path of upright-ness, building more nobly and truly not only an earthly heritage, but also a place in the progress and welfare of mankind, and in the permanent fame that the world accords ultimately to its great souls.

A barrel cactus, four and a half feet high, and a foot and a half in diameter, will weigh about 400 pounds, about 370 pounds of which is water. Men, unused to desert life, have died of thirst with these water barrels standing all around them. But the cactus does not advertise its wares. Instead, it makes itself as uninviting as possible. Without its spiny armor it would have vanished from the desert long ago, a victim of thirsty birds and animals. Winter takes third place among the rainy seasons and autumn is the driest of all.

The Mark

By RALPH ANDRE

JIMMY BEDFORD clenched his teeth to keep them from chattering. For weeks he had tried to summon courage to propose to Janet Ames. It was his last chance, for tomorrow he would sail for South America. He forced himself to look at her. Her lips were parted, her head cocked in that pert little way she had.

Her bright glance caught his and held. Something in the misty depths of the soft brown eyes gave him a breathless courage. He had a wild impulse to shout but the tightness in his throat made his voice low and husky. "Janet . . . I—that is I love you. Will you marry me?"

She retreated a step that brought her face into shadow. Seconds ticked into eternity, became minutes, hours, years, before she answered. "No, Jimmy, I cannot . . . we would always be poor . . . can't you see, Jimmy? It's—It's because you're so easy going. You're just a mark, a dear lovable mark . . . like Bernard Wagner. No one imposes on him. He is a man of the world and he uses modern methods . . . bound to succeed. . ."

A smart fellow, Wagner. He had gone into the building contracting business in their home town. Every one knew that "Bunny" Wagner was a coner; a hard-headed business man; a competitor who was hard to beat. Ruthless in his methods but popular, nevertheless. Men hailed him on the street, in clubs, everywhere. They liked his brisk style.

Dumb and miserable, Jimmy watched her; wondered if that firm little chin would relent; knew that it would not. Then, slowly, the rest of her soft accusation burned in. His chin came up and the glance from his ming blue eyes was level. His voice was steady as he held out his hand and said good-by.

Jimmy pitched his camp on the bleak mountainside where the icy blasts from the eternal snows on the rugged peaks of the Bolivian Cordilleras hurtled down and tore savagely at his frail tent. He threw himself into his work with grim purpose. He saved his money as never before.

It became a byword that anyone could make a touch from "easy-going Jimmy Bedford." To his Amara Indians he was "Don Santiago" (St. James). No one knew that the smiling and optimistic Jimmy carried a constant dull ache in his heart. He could not forget Janet Ames, but he stubbornly resisted an overwhelming desire to write to her. The silence between them held for three heart-tearing years. At the latter end of his contract he tore open a letter from Bernard Wagner with cold misgivings as her last words came to him again.

"Dear Old Friend Jimmy," it began. A puzzled frown spread over Jimmy's face as his eyes strayed to the signature at the bottom. He read, bewildered:

" . . . and if you could just let me have a small loan—say twenty-five—"

"Otherwise, things have been going well for your old pal. You, of course, remember Janet Ames. Well, old boy, I'm the lucky fellow . . . thought once you had the inside track . . . be married in June."

Home, Jimmy swung from the train and looked about the station for his father and mother. They would be along. He was glad to be back. He said it several times as if it were a ritual to which he must cling. It was nice to see old faces, familiar sights. Everything looked the same. Not quite.

His roving glance took in the office and yard diagonally across the street. The windows were dirty and vacant, the yard deserted. A swinging right angle sign creaked noisily in the wind. "Bernard Wagner, Contractor," it said. Jimmy rubbed his chin. "Bunny" would have moved into the new ten-story bank building he had built. Jimmy's eyes strayed to it, a block up the street. It was not yet finished. It, somehow, looked dead.

"Jimmy," said a timid voice at his elbow.

His heart contracted as he looked at her with wondering eyes. She was making a brave effort although the glistening eyes belied the smile on her sensitive mouth. Her dress was neat but a trifle shabby. Why, it was the same one she had worn that last night! He remembered those pink flowers and the lacy what-you-call-it around the top of it. Her shoes. He realized by her heightening color that he was staring; that she was painfully aware of her clothes, and he looked again across the street.

"Where's 'Bunny' now?" His voice was wracked with pain. It sounded thin and metallic as it came from the top of his throat.

"He's gone. I—"

Her voice trailed off and he wheeled in amazement. She was fumbling in her purse. He could only see the point of her chin. It was quivering. Presently she found what she sought and held it out—an envelope. Dumbly, mechanically, he opened it and drew out a check. It bore his signature; and on the paper it said:

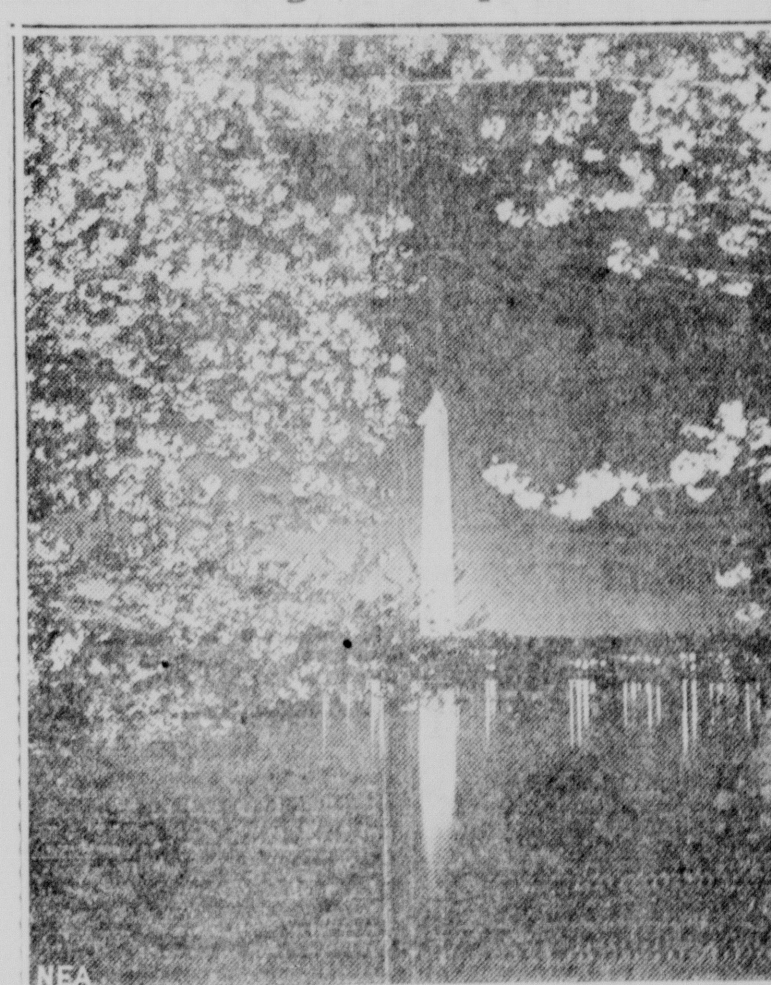

"Pay to the order of Bernard Wagner
"TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS. . ."

FRIENDLY ENEMIES

Algiers—Fourteen years ago France and Germany were deadly enemies. Today they are planning to establish a joint air service between Europe and South America via northern Africa, according to reports reaching this Algerian city. The route is planned by way of Marseilles, Barcelona, Casablanca, and Dakar to Buenos Aires. Both nations will share in the traffic equally if the line is organized.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

STAN CARNEY, 19, pretty and unassuming, lives with her AUNT JESSIE in Chicago, and takes a secretarial course at a downtown business school. There she meets BOB DUNBAR, heir to a fortune. She is employed as secretary for FURNESS HEATH, architect. JACK WARING, Heath's assistant, tries to start a flirtation but is rebuffed. Miss HEATH sends Susan, BEN LAMPMAN, a young musician, takes her to a studio party that she does not enjoy. Dunbar takes her to lunch and tells her he is going abroad. Susan's aunt departs on a visit and ROSE MILTON stays with Susan. Lonely, the girl goes driving with Waring, and RAY FLANNERY, employed in the next office. Waring kisses her and she resolves never to go with him again. Ben Lampman asks Susan to marry him and will not accept her refusal as final. Waring apologizes for his raddish behavior.

In a newspaper gossip column, Susan reads that Bob Dunbar is to be married. She works overtime at the office and Heath for the first time realizes how young and charming she is. When he becomes ill she goes to his country home to take dictation.

Now go on with the story
CHAPTER XX

"YOU'VE got plenty of time, miss." That was Simon, grinning at Susan and helping her out of the car.

"Thanks. You did that beautifully," she told him, feeling conspicuous with her armful of flowers. She went to sit on one of the benches outside of the station. Idly she noticed a girl in white flannel with a great Russian wolfhound on a leash, pacing up and down. There was something familiar about the set of the beautiful little head under the rakish, white hat. When the girl turned her profile Susan knew her at once. It was Denise Ackroyd. Deliberately Susan looked the other way. She could not quite forgive that girl for having interrupted her and Bob Dunbar at luncheon. The old pain began to throb in her breast.

"I was so happy a moment ago," Susan thought resentfully. "Why need she remind me of him? I was trying to forget."

Irresistibly her eyes were drawn back to the straight, graceful figure. At that moment Denise's gaze met hers. She bowed frigidly and moved away.

"I wonder if her family know she goes around with the Strinskys' crowd?" Susan reflected, thinking disdainfully of that sordid ménage to which Ben had introduced her. She buried her face in the roses as the train roared into the station.

Susan found herself a seat in an almost empty coach and through the window caught a glimpse of Denise casually embracing a tall, blond young man, carrying golf sticks. Unaccountably her heart lightened. In the back of her mind all this time, unacknowledged, had lain the fear that Denise might be the unnamed charmer in Bob's life. It did not seem so hard to lose him to someone she had never seen. A real flesh and blood rival was more terrifying. "Perhaps it isn't true," Susan thought.

She wondered where Bob was and when he was returning. How strange that he had not even written her a line! She had watched the mails day after day until pride had come to her rescue. Then the dream had died and more than one night her pillow had been wet with tears.

SHE dismissed all this now resolutely and began to think of other things—the house she had just left and her employer with his lean, ascetic face and quizzical eyes. Surely Ernest Heath had everything to be desired—wealth, position, friends and that beautiful house and garden. She could hear herself describing the place in detail to Rose or to Aunt Jessie. Aunt Jessie would sniff at what she called "fol-de-rols," but she would be impressed just the same.

However, it was Ray Flannery who first heard the story of Susan's visit.

"My eye! Flowers, where are you going with that girl?" Ray shrieked, meeting Susan in the hall.

Susan turned a blooming face. "Aren't they lovely?" she asked. "They're from Mr. Heath's garden. I had to go out there to take dictation. He's laid up."

Ray whistled softly. "Getting a stand in?" she inquired. "I'll bet the missus didn't pick those for you."

Susan said with dignity, "One of the maids did. Mr. Heath told her to."

Ray whistled. "One of the maids! My hat! How many do they have and what kind of a place is it?"

"It's—oh, it's beautiful!" said Susan, eyes shining. "It's out in the real country. There's every kind of bird you ever heard of."

Ray chorled. "Wouldn't you think they'd want to live on Lake Susan drive or somewhere like that? Wouldn't you think they'd have a duplex up near the park? How anybody can see that country stuff gets me!"

"It's lovely," Susan told her. "You couldn't have a garden if you lived in a duplex apartment."

"Who wants a garden?" Ray demanded. She had followed Susan into the office and draped herself gracefully over a partition. "Me, I'd have a standing order at a florist's for orchids or maybe gardenias."

Jack Waring interrupted them. "Sounds like your line, sugar," he said impudently. Ray made a saucy face at him.

"You know me, old thing!" To Susan she said, "See you later. Had your lunch?"

Hastily Susan said, "I've got so much work to do I'm going to have a sandwich sent up." Ray departed. Curiously Waring gazed at Susan.

"The boss must have been feeling better," he hazarded. Susan returned his look with utmost candor.

"No, he wasn't really," she explained. "He looks miserable. But he was so nice. He told Simon to wait and had all these gathered for me. It was sweet of him, wasn't it?"

WARING agreed gravely, keeping his thoughts to himself. He had learned several things in the last month or so about this girl. Cynic that he was, he had discovered that Susan was to be taken at her face value. What she said she meant and what she seemed to be she was. It was startling but true. Jack Waring had not understood that at first. Now he was a little ashamed of his earlier attitude.

Susan began to wish Waring would go. He made her nervous, sitting there drumming on the desk with his well manicured fingers and eyeing her with that speculative gaze. She put away her hat, thrust the flowers into an umbrella stand and flipped open her desk. The man smiled wryly, recognizing signs of dismissal.

"Sorry you're so busy," he said smoothly. "I wanted to tell you about meeting an old friend of yours."

Susan had slipped a sheet of paper into the machine. Her eyes, intent on her work, raised to his for an instant.

"Old friend of mine? Really? Who is he?"

"Listen to her," the man teased. "For all you know it might have been a girl."

Susan laughed, embarrassed. "I know," she said, "but there was something about the way you said it that made me think—"

"It's all right," he told her. "It

SHE moved her shoulders impatiently. Why couldn't the man leave? Her voice sounded heavy as lead as she answered. Susan said, "Ah, but you see, he doesn't want me."

"She would have given a great deal to have the words back. In a panic she wondered if she had given herself away."

Soon Convinced of Gly-Cas' Merit; Now Eats and Sleeps Good, Feels Fine.

"I am enthused about Gly-Cas, it seems to me to be the wonder of the age," said Mr. C. A. Palmer, age 71, 510 West Owens St., El Reno, Okla. "My stomach had been disordered for years, nauseated, food soured, bloated, appetite failed, dizzy, nervous and lost weight. My kidneys caused night risings, rest was disturbed, grew worse all the time. Nothing seemed able to help me and I thought it useless to take further treatment, but was finally persuaded to try Gly-Cas. This new remedy restored my appetite and had gained five pounds before finishing the first box, now my stomach gives me no more trouble, kidneys normal, sleep good, feel fine."

Gly-Cas amazes in stubborn rheumatism, stomach, kidney, bowel, blood troubles.

Gly-Cas is sold by Campbell's White Cross Drug Store, Dixon, and by all leading drug stores in surrounding towns.—Adv.

TODAY IS THE WORLD WAR ANNIVERSARY

AMERICANS CONTINUE BATTLE

On April 21, 1918, intense fighting between American and German troops in the little village of Seicheprey continued, with the U. S. soldiers retaking the last of their outposts still held by the Germans.

Total losses to American forces involved were estimated at not more than 600, despite nearly 36 hours fighting and intervals of hand-to-hand combat.

German troops engaged in the attack on the village and the subsequent fighting were estimated at more than 5000.

British troops on the Lys front improved their positions by counter-attacks after they had repulsed a retook the city of Ypres from the Turks after hard fighting.

The War Department in Washington announced that several new units of American troops were ready for action on the western front. The total available American force there was estimated at approximately 250,000.

ABOUT THAT "SKY CAR"

Washington—Specifications on the U. S. Army's "sky car" in which an observer will be lowered below the clouds while the dirigible rides above them, have been sketchily revealed. It is said that the car's equipment will include a parachute and a rubber boat for the observer's use in case he has to leave his post. The car resembles a small airplane fuselage with out wings.
